ABOUT THE PANEL DISCUSSION

'Health is wealth' has been the age-old adage. Yet, a pandemic taught us that lesson like no other. All humanity learned that everything else can stay when our very lives are at risk. Since the outbreak of the Covid 19 pandemic the world has come to a standstill. People's lives have been disrupted like never before. Healthcare systems around the world have been working in frenzy round the clock to combat the situation. The strength and resilience of the healthcare systems around the world have been put to test. Healthcare professionals are trying to adapt to overwhelming challenges, that too at a staggering pace. Mankind is going through enormous mental stress and fear. In this context, we plan to organise a panel discussion of healthcare experts from around the world to throw light on various nuances of the issue at hand and bring some order and peace in the minds of the community by delivering expert guidance and direction which we are in need of as half-truth is sold at a high prize everywhere.
